

Understanding Equal Pay – Education Sessions

Alert: Community & Disability Sector Workers
Equal Pay is on its Way! Do you need to know more?

Do you know what your first Equal Pay instalment will be on December 1 2012?

It depends where you are classified in the Modern Award structure – you need to know your classification to establish what change there is to your rate of pay.

Do you know what your new classification is?

It's a different structure from our old Award/s.

Have you been translated to the Modern Award Classification Structure yet?

This change applied as of July 1 2012.

Can't answer some of these questions?

Come to a FREE workshop to find out more. There's bound to be one near you!

The ASU is running sessions for all workers in every region across the industry – via an Australian Government funded program. The sessions explain the basis for these changes, process for classification translation and how to calculate your first Equal Pay instalment.

Forward to your co-workers, and networks so we can all be on the same page understanding these important changes.

Maybe you're up to date, but worried that others don't know their entitlements, encourage them to come along.

The ASU can run workplace sessions if there is enough interest – get a group together and get in touch to make a time.
