Best Interest Case Practice Model (BICPM) Foundation Training

Designed by practitioners for practitioners

Overview

The Best Interests Case Practice Model (BICPM) Foundation Training is designed to support and strengthen professional practice across family services, child protection, and placement and support services. This highly interactive 6-hour workshop helps practitioners understand and apply the principles of the BICPM to achieve positive outcomes for children, young people, and their families.

Participants will explore the purpose and benefits of the BICPM framework, learn how to apply its principles in real-world practice, and develop skills to use the model in a cyclical and reflective way.

Key Focus Areas Include:

- Understanding the components of supervision and the role of supervision contracts
- Prioritising supervision in practice
- Applying evidence-informed supervision practices
- Strategies for effective supervision
- Documenting supervision appropriately
- Supervising through a cultural lens

Learning Outcomes

By the end of this workshop, participants will be able to:

- Build strong relationships with clients and stakeholders to support positive outcomes for children, young people, and families, in line with BICPM's Relationship-Based principles
- Gather and interpret information using BICPM's tools and frameworks
- Develop effective case plans and conduct risk assessments aligned with BICPM's Analysis and Planning principles
- Support clients and service users through purposeful action, guided by BICPM's Action principles
- Reflect on practice and service delivery using BICPM's Reviewing Outcomes principles

Delivery and Suitability

This interactive workshop is delivered as a single 7-hour session or split into two 4-hour sessions, depending on your organisation's preference. It can be facilitated either in-person or online. For online delivery, splitting the content into two sessions is recommended to optimise engagement and learning outcomes.

Who Should Attend

This training is suitable for practitioners working in the family services sector, including Case Managers, Team Leaders, and Social Workers who are involved in supporting children, young people, and families.
